

Erasmus project Italy 2016

Zuzanna Pohl

We came to Italy on Sunday and spent some time in Milan, where we ate delicious pasta and pizza with our Italian friends. We arrived to Fiorenzuola at about 10PM, went home, had a dinner and went to bed.

MONDAY

On Monday we had the whole day at school. The opening ceremony was well-done and interesting, with photos and singing students. Then there was a school tour, during which we explored the „campus” and learned about their school. After that it was lunch time and then some quizzes and games. When we finished the Erasmus activities, me, my host family and Agata and her family went to a town near Fiorenzuola to see the castle. The weather was incredible, so we had lots of fun, took million photos and had a little snack in the cafe.

TUESDAY

The day started with a sightseeing of the town. It was quite cold, but it didn't stop us from enjoying this time. During the trip we saw the most popular and interesting places including the theater where the English teacher from Italy gave us private recital. Then we presented our business projects and voted for the best idea. Unfortunately our project didn't win. After lunch the students had classes about building your own business model. The classes were quite boring and definitely too long, as everyone was tired. It was also the day of the dinner, so me and Molly (my host) went home to prepare for that. We came to the church, where the dinner took place, and waited for the others. The dinner was a little bit different (less sophisticated and elegant than the one in Poland) but the games saved the evening

WEDNESDAY

At 8 we took the bus to Piacenza. The Italians prepared the visit at Tecnopolo, Urban Hub (where we saw the 3D print being made) and a company that helps disabled children – TICE Learning Centre. After that, the time has come for the pizza! The Erasmus group ate at Eataly, which is not only a restaurant, but also a shop. Unfortunately when we were supposed to see Piacenza there was raining, so we just had a short walk and we ran to the bus. At the end of the day my host family took me and my friend Kinga to another town and after that we had a very nice Italian dinner with pasta, cheese and ham.

THURSDAY

Thursday started with a trip to Parma. Our first stop was dairy company, that produces the most popular Italian cheese called parmesan. When we arrived at Parma, Ms Claudia took us to the museum, where we saw theater, paintings and sculptures. During the free time, me and my friends went to look around Parma, ate some delicious pizza and sat on the bench in the sun. The visit in Parma ended with a cool game – Selfie Treasure Hunt. The task was to find monuments, university students and famous people from Parma and somehow took a selfie with them. After arriving to Fiorenzuola I was so tired that we decided to stay home this evening. My host family made amazing dinner, Molly's best friend came over and we just watched TV and talked till it was time to sleep.

FRIDAY

Sadly Friday was the last day. It started with us playing games and doing crosswords, which were actually very hard to accomplish. After closing ceremony and lunch it was time to say goodbye to our friends and go to the airport.
